ABSTRACT

The curriculum guide for Alberta's three-year French language program, which spans grades 10 through 12 and is intended for jurisdictions able to offer only the minimum language program, includes the following components: a set of objectives reflecting the province's goals of basic education and a rationale to support the inclusion of French in a school program; specification of minimum expectations for each language skill (listening, speaking, reading, and writing) and for cultural understanding by the end of grade 12; specific performance objectives and linguistic content for each of the three grades; specific minimum core content for all students and elective components for enrichment; and suggested teaching and learning strategies and evaluation procedures. In a final section, performance goals are cross-referenced by grade to the student texts used in the program. (MSE)

INTRODUCTION

The Three-Year French Program begins in Grade 10 and ends in Grade 12. It is designed for school jurisdictions which are able to offer only a minimum program in French as a second language.

The characteristics of the program include:

1. A set of objectives which reflect the Goals of Basic Education along with a rationale to support the inclusion of French in a school program;
2. Specification of minimum expectations for each language skill (listening, speaking, reading and writing) and for cultural understanding at the end of Grade 12;
3. Specification of performance statements and linguistic content for each of Grades 10 through 12;
4. Specification of minimum core content for all students as well as elective components for enrichment;
5. Suggested teaching and learning strategies and evaluation procedures.

RATIONALE

French has been taught in Alberta schools since the province came into being. However, experience with existing programs and evaluation thereof indicate the need for more suitable guidelines for teachers and administrators in order to provide their students with experiences which will lead to more effective learning appropriate to the national and international scenes.

English and French, the two official languages of Canada, are languages which have influenced and continue to influence the Western world. All students should therefore be given the opportunity and encouragement to acquire French as an additional language. In learning French, one gains a new awareness and a greater understanding of culture through the realization that there are similarities and differences between French and English-speaking peoples. Awareness that the patterns of living of each group are based on one's environment and experiences will, it is expected, lead to greater openmindedness, flexibility and readiness to understand and accept others as they are.

Languages are tools which enable the user to elicit and receive information, to express his opinions and feelings, in effect, to communicate. They have different ways of leading speakers to focus on the reality which surrounds them. In our multi-cultural society, knowledge of another language should thus enable an individual to communicate more effectively in a greater variety of situations related to work or leisure activities. The application of language skills, by extending the range of an individual's human relationships, results in a strong sense of personal achievement and satisfaction.

Many of the skills used in learning another language are the same as those used in learning one's first language. Through the learning of French, the learner can become conscious of those skills and how they apply to any language learning. In this process, the learner develops the ability to listen for meaningful sounds, to understand different elements of a sentence, and to analyse a message so as to grasp its meaning. Analyzing messages, reconstructing utterances, and applying acquired knowledge to new situations enhance the development of problem-solving skills. By using the spoken language, one gains a clearer perception of how a language functions, of what must be said in order to communicate. Through reading and writing in French, one becomes more aware of the shared conceptual bases of both French and English. As a result of their commonalties and parallel development, the two languages complement each other in many ways. They share a large portion of their vocabularies and use a similar organization of linguistic elements to express experience.

Growing global interdependence is a reality which cannot be overlooked. With widespread mobility, knowledge of more than one language is becoming increasingly valuable: tourists, technicians, business people, civil servants, diplomats, athletes - people from all walks of life - are going abroad more frequently to visit or to work. Students in our schools cannot foresee where and with whom they will be called upon to work. Multi-national companies in particular, when hiring employees, may consider knowledge of more than one language important. Although knowledge of French may not be the primary qualification demanded by an employer, it may well be the deciding factor in obtaining employment in a world where the job market is becoming more competitive.

It is the purpose of this guide to outline a curriculum which will help Alberta's students to begin to develop the minimum basic skills necessary to communicate with others who use French, the better to prepare them to take their place in our national and international communities.

GOALS

Goals designate the broad, long-range, and significant outcomes desired from a program.

Although the following goals may be given varying emphasis, they are identified as those equally important to learning French and are intended to enable the student:

1. To acquire basic communication skills in French by:
 - 1.1 developing the receptive skills of listening and reading, including in the case of the former, an understanding of intonation, gestures and visual clues which help to convey the message;
 - 1.2 developing the productive skills of speaking and writing including in the case of the former, the appropriate intonation, gestures and visual clues which help to convey the message.
2. To develop cultural sensitivity and enhance personal development by:
 - 2.1 developing a greater awareness and appreciation of various cultural values and lifestyles;
 - 2.2 developing a positive attitude toward people who speak another language through a meaningful exposure to the French language and culture;
 - 2.3 becoming more aware of his own cultural heritage through learning of French;
 - 2.4 becoming aware of and appreciating through instruction and direct experiences, the valuable contributions of French-speaking peoples to civilization;
 - 2.5 broadening his perspectives to include the national and international scene through active participation in a language spoken by many Canadians.

3. To develop originality and creativity in language by:
 - 3.1 enabling him to apply his skills to new and meaningful situations;
 - 3.2 enabling him to express his own ideas and feelings;
 - 3.3 enabling him to discover a new dimension of his personality.
4. To acquire additional concepts and generalizations about language and language learning by:
 - 4.1 recognizing the basic structural similarities and differences between French and English;
 - 4.2 acquiring some knowledge of the structure and function of languages;
 - 4.3 developing an awareness of regional, social and functional variations of spoken and written language;
 - 4.4 developing a conscious knowledge of the skills and strategies used in learning a second language.
5. To develop a desire to extend or improve his proficiency in languages through further language study whether for interest, post-secondary requirements or vocational needs.

SUGGESTED ALLOTMENT OF TIME FOR SKILL DEVELOPMENT

Grade 10	Grade 11	Grade 12
35% Listening Comprehension	30% Listening Comprehension	25% Listening
35% Speaking	35% Speaking	35% Speaking
10% Reading	15% Reading	20% Reading
20% Writing	20% Writing	20% Writing

The above percentages are only approximations. Although the cultural objective is not mentioned in the above schedule, successful language instruction involves integration of all language skills and culture. Evaluation of language skills and culture should reflect emphasis and proportion of time spent on each aspect of language learning in the classroom.

Note: The proportion of time shown for reading and writing does not necessarily reflect the proportion of total time spent on these skills since many of these activities will be done outside of class.

OBJECTIVES AND CONTENT

The objectives and content are selected on the basis of categories of languages uses. Some examples are:

1. Social Conventions
2. Identification of Persons and Things
3. Expressing Actions

LINGUISTIC CONTENT

The linguistic content identifies the minimum language structures, sentence patterns, changes in word forms and vocabulary that students are expected to acquire in order to engage in verbal communication.

The categories of language use, the performance statements and linguistic content for each grade level are not arranged in a sequential order although it is recommended that the specified objectives and content be covered by the end of each grade. It is expected that the content specified in the categories of language use and skills described in the performance statements and minimum expectations be mastered by the end of Grade 12.

SUGGESTED VOCABULARY

The vocabulary is suggested for development of everyday themes and is intended to complement the vocabulary found in primary learning resources. These lists are an additional source for teacher reference and are considered to be elective.

DEFINITION OF CULTURE

Two interrelated definitions of culture linked by a set of commonly shared values and cultural themes are:

1. Culture refers to a people's achievements and contributions to civilization in such fields as art, music, literature, architecture, technology, science and philosophy.
2. Culture also refers to the behavioural patterns or life styles of people. To illustrate, the study of behavioural patterns and life styles might focus on such topics as:
 - a. When and what people eat;
 - b. How they make a living;
 - c. The way they organize their society;
 - d. The attitudes they express toward friends and members of their families;
 - e. How they act in different situations;
 - f. What expressions are used to show approval and disapproval; and
 - g. The traditions observed.

It is this latter definition that should form the focus of learning activities in the classroom.

Culture is a complex and dynamic phenomenon and each country possesses a myriad of subcultures. As the international expansion of technology and communication rapidly transform daily life patterns, today's life styles may become tomorrow's stereotypes or myths.

Teachers are cautioned to avoid generalizing from too little data. Rather, it is important to discuss the way people live in big cities as well as in small villages, the reactions of young people and those of the elderly, the points of view of different ethnic groups, the attitudes of people in different socio-economic strata and in different regions of a country. It is important to develop the concept that people respond to life's needs in a variety of ways.

TEACHING STRATEGIES

BASIC ASSUMPTIONS

1. Emphasis on Communication Skills

One of the underlying premises in this program is that the study of language must be combined with opportunities to use the language. Knowledge of linguistic elements, vocabulary, sounds, word formation and grammar, although important, does not automatically lead to the ability to use the language.

The view taken in this program is that exercises and activities which encourage students to exchange with others, messages of real interest to them, should be introduced from the beginning of language study.

2. Four Skills Approach

Another assumption is that various combinations of all skills are necessary for effective communication in a language. As students vary in their predisposition toward oral and visual means of learning, it is desirable to appeal to as many of the senses as possible and to avoid a single approach for all students. To illustrate, some students will learn through visual presentation what they are not able to grasp orally. Similarly, concepts learned in receptive skills (listening and reading) can be reinforced through productive skills (speaking and writing).

3. Emphasis on Understanding the Structure of Language

Importance should be accorded to assisting students to understand the structure of the language to be learned.

Content should be sequenced to maximize reference to meaning and situations. Similarities and contrasts of form and meaning should be emphasized with numerous examples and illustrations.

4. Increased Emphasis on Cultural Awareness

Comprehending a language and being able to express oneself in a language does not ensure understanding of the social customs, the patterns of behaviours, beliefs and values of a particular society. It is suggested that a planned study of culture be implemented.

To assist in this end, numerous activities are suggested in the accompanying handbook, to develop insights into ways of life and ways of thinking of people who speak French.

5. Attention to Student Centered Learning

Increased recognition should be given to the fact that students differ in aptitude, in talents, in socio-economic background, in interests, in styles and rates of learning, and in various types of needs.

This program attempts to meet some of these different needs and interests through a variety of content and by suggesting a variety of teaching and learning strategies and evaluation procedures. An attempt is also made to adjust the objectives and content and to select learning resources which correspond to the understanding and interest levels of students in each division.

ON THE BASIS OF THESE FIVE ASSUMPTIONS, THE LANGUAGE SKILLS AND CULTURE WILL BE DISCUSSED IN THE ACCOMPANYING HANDBOOK ALONG WITH SUGGESTIONS FOR VARIOUS ACTIVITIES AND EXERCISES.

TESTING AND EVALUATION

Definitions

Testing in education is the measurement of student progress and achievement. Evaluation is a value judgment or decision made after observation of the results obtained through testing. It is the process of determining to what extent the objectives have been realized by the program.

Testing, therefore, is the vital ingredient in a continuous teaching-learning loop. It provides feed-back to the learner, the teacher and the program developer which can be used in evaluation.

Second language tests should be related to objectives of the language program and to the teaching procedures being used. The weight given to testing the receptive skills of reading and listening and to the productive skills of speaking and writing should have a realistic relationship to the emphasis which has been given in the classroom to each of these skills.

Purposes of Testing

1. To communicate to the student what he is expected to learn and how he is to perform;
2. To inform the student of the extent of his progress and achievement in attaining program goals;
3. To motivate the student;
4. To encourage the student to organize, to review and to develop long-range retention of material covered;
5. To provide information to the teacher for diagnostic and placement purposes;
6. To permit the teacher to adapt his teaching and to improve the program;
7. To facilitate decision-making by the student, the parents and the school.

TYPES OF TESTS

The basic types of second language tests are: progress tests, achievement tests, proficiency tests and tests of attitude and cultural awareness.

1. Progress tests

The progress test measures how much a student has learned in a specific course of study. Given at the end of a lesson, a chapter, a unit or a semester, the progress test is the type of test used most often by the classroom teacher.

Many publishers of language learning materials provide progress tests to accompany their materials. If these tests are used, they should first be evaluated to assure that they are related to the learning objectives emphasized by the program.

2. Achievement tests

The achievement test also measures what a student has learned but is designed for use with students at the same language level in different schools and programs. It is not intended as a final examination for grading students but for providing useful information for curriculum evaluation and planning.

3. Proficiency tests

The proficiency test measures how a student's language ability corresponds to specific language expectations irrespective of the program of study he has followed. It is useful for placing a student in a course suitable to his ability.

4. Tests of Attitude and Cultural Awareness

The attitude test and the test of cultural awareness attempt to measure affective outcomes of language studies. Moreover, through measurement of a student's attitudes, feelings and values regarding the people whose language he is trying to acquire, it is assumed that conclusions can be made as to the influence of attitude on motivation and on language achievement itself.

THE TEACHING FOR MASTERY MODEL

In planning an effective instructional sequence, the following model should be kept in mind.
